Sir:

Applicants are in receipt of Form PTOL-85B (Issue Fee Transmittal) mailed from the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office on April 26, 1999, in connection with the above-styled patent application. Upon receipt of the Issue Fee Transmittal, Applicants noticed that the title of the invention is incorrect. The correct title should be --SYSTEM FOR DISPLAYING PROGRAM INFORMATION--. The correct title of the invention is shown on the attached copy of the first page of the application and copy of the Utility Patent Application Transmittal. Attached is a copy of the Issue Fee Transmittal with the correction shown in red. No amendment to the title of the invention was submitted to the Patent Office. Correction is respectfully requested.

Respectfully submitted,

W. Scott Petty

“SYSTEM FOR DISPLAYING PROGRAMMING INFORMATION”

Technical Field

10 The invention relates generally to schedules for programming information and, more specifically, to a system for retrieving and displaying programming information in response to selection of a category of programming information.

15 Background of the Invention

 A national information infrastructure constructed from both wireless and wired communications networks supports the communication of information in homes and businesses throughout the country. Telephones, televisions, radios, computers, and facsimile machines are used each day to receive, store, process, perform, display, and transmit data, text, voice, sound, and graphic images. These devices are typically connected via fiber optic cables, coaxial cables, electronic switches and routers, microwave networks, satellites, and other communications technologies. This national information infrastructure, which may one day be expanded to a global infrastructure, supports the electronic transfer of a wide variety of programming to entertain, instruct, or inform receiving parties. In view of both the variety and the substantial amount of available programming, a user typically uses a programming schedule or guide to select a desired program for reception (or transmission) on a certain date and time.

 For example, a subscriber to cable network programming services, such as premium cable television or audio services, typically uses a printed schedule to select a program for
